VICTIMS OF CHILD ABUSE

PERFORMANCE REPORT

January-June 2021

WORKING FOR YOUTH JUSTICE AND SAFETY

---

VISION STATEMENT

OJJDP envisions a nation where our children are free from crime and violence. If they come into contact with the justice system, the contact should be rare, fair, and beneficial to them.

MISSION STATEMENT

OJJDP provides national leadership, coordination, and resources to prevent and respond to youth delinquency and victimization. The Office helps states, localities, and tribes develop effective and equitable juvenile justice systems that create safer communities and empower youth to lead productive lives.

This report was produced by Booz Allen Hamilton under contract number GS-00F-008DA, awarded by the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP), U.S. Department of Justice. It is important to note that accurate data rely on correct data tracking and entry by the grantees and those agencies reporting to grantees, as such the data and analysis findings provided reflect the information as reported. These analytical findings make no claims of causation or demonstrate evidence of program effectiveness, and, as with all performance data, readers must use caution when interpreting the results, as factors other than the program may have contributed to the performance outcomes reported.

Data during the January to June 2021 activity period was impacted by the Covid-19 global pandemic. Grantees and service providers experienced a disruption to services, which raised obstacles for service delivery and data collection. The following data reflect services adapted to and provided during the Covid-19 pandemic.

INTRODUCTION

The Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP) administers the Victims of Child Abuse (VOCA) program, authorized by the Victims of Child Abuse Act Reauthorization Act of 2018. This legislation provides funding for the national membership organization and subgrants to Regional Children’s Advocacy Centers (RCACs), Children’s Advocacy Centers (CACs), state chapters, targeted populations (e.g., military installations and victims of child pornography), and training and technical assistance (TTA) for child abuse professionals and prosecutors. CACs serve child victims by helping law enforcement entities hold perpetrators accountable and coordinating the investigation, treatment, and prosecution of child abuse cases by utilizing multidisciplinary teams of professionals involved in child protection and victim advocacy services. RCACs are accredited members of the National Children’s Alliance and provide TTA to assess community readiness, increase the number of communities using the CAC model, and develop and strengthen state chapter CAC organizations.

Performance measures help OJJDP determine whether the VOCA program achieved its goals and objectives while supporting program and policy decisions related to reducing incidents of child abuse. This report presents the program activities occurring between January and June 2021 and highlights the results achieved by grantees with the support of OJJDP funding. VOCA grantees report data on a variety of activities, including system planning and TTA.

OVERVIEW OF AWARD INFORMATION

During the January–June 2021 activity period, OJJDP’s seven VOCA programs funded 10 awards. One hundred percent of awards completed their reporting requirements, and all awards were operational (i.e., expended grant funds during the activity period). The total available funding during the period exceeded $66.5 million.<sup>1</sup> All of the awards funded nonprofit, community-based organizations (figure 1).

SYSTEM PLANNING ACTIVITIES

System planning activities help strengthen state chapter organizations and enhance coordination among agencies. During the January–June 2021 activity period, the number of system planning activities conducted increased (from 187 to 409), when compared to the previous activity period. System planning activities included the creation of task forces or interagency committees, meetings, and needs assessments. VOCA grantees developed 143 program materials, 67 more than the previous activity period (July–December 2020).<sup>2</sup> Program materials may include program overviews, client workbooks, and lists of local service providers. During this activity period, grantees held more planning/training events and disseminated more program materials than the previous period; however, grantees implemented 61 fewer system-level improvement initiatives.

TRAINING ACTIVITIES

During the January–June 2021 activity period, VOCA grantees trained 65 staff and 8,222 other relevant youth-serving professionals or community members. The type of staff trained during the activity period included forensic interviewers, boards of directors, CAC chapter directors, judicial/court personnel, and therapists. Of the 3,100 training recipients who completed post-training surveys, 95 percent ( $n = 2,954$ ) indicated an increase in knowledge; this is a slight decrease from the previous activity period.

TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE ACTIVITIES

During the January–June 2021 activity period, VOCA grantees received 4,684 technical assistance requests and delivered 99.8 percent of technical assistance requests. Fifty-eight percent of organizations reported improvements in operations based on TTA services delivered during the activity period.

OJJDP encourages grantees to use evidence-based practices and programs. Evidence-based practices and programs include program models shown through rigorous evaluation and replication to be effective at preventing or reducing juvenile delinquency or related risk factors. Eighty-three percent of programs receiving TTA from VOCA grantees reported implementing an evidence-based program and/or practice during or after TTA, a 22 percent increase from the previous activity period.<sup>3</sup> Figure 4 presents the VOCA TTA activities.

CONCLUSION

The VOCA program funds the development of CACs and TTA for CACs who respond to child maltreatment. TTA enhances coordination among agencies and professionals responding to child abuse. Grant funding helps prevent further victimization of children by improving the quality of child abuse investigations and ensuring appropriate services are delivered to meet the needs of children impacted by abuse and neglect.<sup>4</sup>

During the January–June 2021 activity period, a total of 8,222 youth-serving professionals or community members and 65 staff received training relevant to their program or their position. Compared to the previous activity period, the number of people trained decreased by 3,869. A total of 3,100 training recipients completed surveys designed to understand if they demonstrated increased knowledge of the program area post training. Of the participants who completed surveys, 95 percent indicated an increase in knowledge post training. Additionally, grantees responded to 99.8 percent of 4,684 technical assistance requests received. Eighty-three percent of those served by TTA reported implementing an evidence-based program or practice during or after receiving TTA, and 58 percent of organizations reported improvements in operations as a direct result of TTA.
